One Way of Paying Tax.

The suits of the Minor Lumber Co. and L. Maltz against Alpena city were de cided last week against the city, and i sustained by the Supreme Court, will affect the financial interests of Alpene about six thousand dollars.

It appears that the plaintiffs paid their taxes for the year 1890 under protest, and the suits were to recover the money then ssessed against them for that year.

The plaintiffs won their suits on a mere echnicality of law. They had neglected o pay their taxes for that year at the time appointed by law. Such is often done by Tuesday the drillers expect to finish axpayers, and when they pay after a certain date they pay a per-centage as in erest. In the meantime the Treasurer's warrant had expired, and the Council had warrant had expired, and the Council had neglected to extend it. On this point the Low Prices, Circuit Court decided that the plaintiffs were not liable to pay their city tax for the year 1890.

It may be law but it is not justice, and it is to be hoped the Supreme Court will From the person who was chairman of the Board of Review at that time, w learn that the plaintiffs appeared in per son, and with an attorney, before the their assessment was unjustly high, it was reduced by the Board to a figure that was satisfactory to the plaintiffs.
